WE TOO HAVE A DREAM...

In the life of a country, 15 years is just the blink of an eye; in the life of a 60 year old, looking ahead, it's often filled with some amount of trepidation but when it comes in the life of a 35 year old organization working for the elder cause, it comes with a resolve to reach the 50 year milestone with a renewed mandate to reach further, do more, do better.

HelpAge India, in the past year alone, made the lives of 1.23 million sick and poor elderly people a little easier through medical treatment. In this same year, the number of our senior citizens stood at 100 million. By 2030, this figure is projected to reach 200 million! There couldn't be a better reason driving us to try even harder to do more for a larger number.

Over the years, HelpAge has adapted its programmes to reflect the concerns of our older population, to address, for instance the twin problems of isolation and neglect that sizeable numbers of our urban elderly face. The AdvantAge Card and the AdvantAge Chapters for the practise of Active Ageing are both aimed at overcoming these. Today, membership of the programme has crossed hundred and twenty thousand and covers over 160 towns and cities across the country. In time, this will grow to be a nationwide movement of and for the elders.

Financial security for elders is another area that requires to be seriously tackled. Increasing costs of living, expensive medical services, a lack of an adequate universal pension, all contribute to make senior citizens very vulnerable. HelpAge India is working across several forums for the early adoption of universal pension by state and national governments, though the sheer numbers and consequently the financial implications are truly formidable, especially for a government with a runaway fiscal deficit.

While activities for the welfare of the disadvantaged elderly will continue to be the core of HelpAge India's work, the years to come will see an increased emphasis on pursuing a right based agenda, so that older people are aware of and able to demand and obtain what they are entitled to, which apathy and leakages often deprive them of. Increases in social tension are throwing up newer challenges for resolution. Abuse of elder people is a disturbing and increasing phenomenon; it could get worse in years to come. The recently enacted Maintenance and Welfare of Parents and Senior Citizens Act is a step to make abuse of this kind punishable. However, change must come from within families and society.

Transforming society is a long, hard and arduous task, one that HelpAge will work on through its strong advocacy initiatives. The journey ahead is full of challenges but as HelpAge India looks ahead to its next 15 years, the vision remains clear: a society where the elderly have the right and the ability to lead active, healthy and dignified lives, contributing to the present generation as well as looking to them for empathy and a helping hand.

from the CEO

THE YEAR IN PERSPECTIVE – AN OVERVIEW

This year marks an important land mark as we complete 35 years and we remembered our founder Samson Daniel and the work of Mohni Sabharwal and other Presidents of HelpAge India.

Through these years, our work, our staff and volunteers have worked with the elderly, their associations, Elder Self Help Groups and their elderly Federations, so that today we are indeed the representative voice of India's 100 million senior citizens ushering in an Elders for Elders movement.

Reaching the poorest and the farthest, and among these, the destitute, the ill, the abandoned, the neglected, the abused, all have constituted the core aspects of HelpAge India programmes and initiatives. Our advocacy initiatives aimed at securing Universal Pension and Medical Insurance continues with renewed thrust. We are extremely happy to say that we have reached out to 1.5 million poor elderly across the country and will strive to do more in coming years.

Once again, our flag ship programmes, Mobile Medical Units (MMU), Support-a-Gran (SaGP), sight restoration through Cataract surgeries, Age care and Physiotherapy centres, Old Age Homes and Day Care centres and the much needed income generation Self Help Groups received our consistent support.

It is worth noting that all this work was made possible only through the unstinted support we received from thousands of donors like you across India and the private and public sector companies who partner with so many of our programmes to make them successful. Finally, it is the selfless work of individual members of our staff who through the wide dispersion of HelpAge offices and sites across India ensure that no needy elder is left out, no matter which part of the country he or she resides in.

90 million

to survive

12 million

... but here is where we have made a difference!

1. Cataract Surgery

75 years old Jayammal was born in an agricultural family and got married at 18 to a relative of her own, who was also a farmer by profession. They had two children. Separation from her husband and losing her son to Tsunami in the twilight years of life made life difficult for her. It was then that the personnel from EFE Foundation recommended her to Tamaraikulam Elders Village.

She not only suffered from cataract and other visual problems but due to knee pain she was dependent on walking aids. Jayammal was given treatment for visual problems at the Aravind Eye Hospital, in an eye camp organized at Tamaraikulam Elders Village. She underwent cataract surgery for both her eyes about five months after she enrolled herself at Tamaraikulam Elders Village. After exclusive treatments she is not only able to walk independently but performs activities with much better visual acuity than before. The residents of the village respect her wisdom and it is thus she has been elected as Panchayat Leader of Tamaraikulam Elders Village and is the mediator in disputes among residents.

2. Income Generation - ESHG

Elders of “Maa Jageshwari Elders Self Help Group” of Vill. Balipada in Block Nimapara, Dist. Puri (Odisha), hold their hands up in unison and achievement marking the success of their livelihood efforts under HelpAge’s directly implemented community based programme. After HelpAge gave the group of elders’ seed capital, the elders made sound investments to build their money bank further. They hired 1.5 acres of land & entered into Paddy cultivation as a group business with expectant profit. Some of the group members even took a loan from the seed capital and utilized it for various income generating activities, like vegetable marketing, coconut business, few have started business with their family members etc. HelpAge is proud of its group of elders who have set a true example of self- reliance and Active Ageing.

3. Composite Care - Health to Livelihoods

65 years old, Madda Bhanumathi, a widower, is a daily wage labourer. To earn her livelihood she steps out of Butchampeta village, Andhra Pradesh, and goes to the neighboring village to carry out 3 days of manual labour in a week. Due to lack of primary education, her sons could not support her. The sole bread winner of the family, Bhanumathi sustained her family on a meager salary of Rs. 30/ day.

“In 2008, I was diagnosed as HIV+” says Madda Veerabai, her elder son, whose wife passed away soon after. “Project Karuna approached and referred me to a nearby ICTC centre. I started

HelpAge is able to reach out to only 1 million needy elders, just 1% of the 100 million. More than ever we need your support receiving support through medicines by HelpAge India’s MMU camps. I was counseled by the field staff which led me to become a Self Help Group member.”

Overwhelmed, Bhanumathi says, “My life has improved majorly after I too joined an Elder Self Help Group. I acquire a livelihood by weaving fruit baskets and earning about Rs. 100/ day. I also get regular healthcare support as I am a registered member of the Mobile Medical Unit which visits my village regularly. By God’s grace, I now lead a contented life.”

4. Physiotherapy

Vinod Phadte, 59 years, resident of Porvorim (Goa), retired from service in 2008 due to a road accident. The accident fractured his cervical vertebra, causing weakness in his limbs. He could not walk without support and used the help of a walker to move around. He needed help for his basic daily activities. He soon went into deep depression, ridden with the guilt of being a burden to his family. Phadte came to HelpAge’s Agecare centre in July 2011 for help. With the exercises and proper treatment at the centre he started to show signs of improvement. His interaction with the HelpAge India staff made him feel relaxed and instilled new vigor and zeal in him.

He now uses just a cane to move around and doesn’t require much support and does all his daily activities with little help. He now even comes to the Agecare Centre by driving his car himself feeling happier, more confident and independent.

5. Tamaraikulam Elders Village (TEV)

70 years old Krishnammal defies her age when she joyfully continues farming in Tamaraikulam Elders Village (TEV). She cuts grass for cows and does farming in the field. She epitomizes active ageing so much so that she is often heard saying that she feels unwell when not working. But it was not always so.

Krishnammal led a tough life. Born in a family of farmers in the village of Nanamedu, in Cuddalore District, she was the youngest of the three daughters. From the premature death of her mother in childhood, to loosing her baby girl, to her husband to illness in early years of her marriage, the hardships of life followed her everywhere. Krishnammal could barely survive by farming in the land her husband had left for her. A year passed. The loneliness and poverty depressed Krishnammal. Her elder sister took pity on her and took her in but when her presence created problems in her sister’s position in the family, she was at a loss of where to go. It was then that Krishnammal came to know about Tamaraikulam Elders Village.

Krishnammal is now a happy and contented resident of the village and a strong believer in the dignity of labor. She helps the workers in the upkeep of TEV and cleaning its surroundings. She has repeatedly won the praise of all the residents, workers and officials at TEV. Krishnammal now leads a satisfied, dignified life and thanks Tamaraikulam Elders Village and HelpAge India to have come to her rescue.

6. MMU

87 years old, Raja Karale is a drama critic for over 6 decades now. In love with drama, he fondly recounts his acting days all the time. He has three sons and a daughter but proudly declares that he never took any financial assistance from his sons even when they offered to help.

“My elder son is a good photographer. My middle son is a film maker in Marathi and Hindi, younger son is a very well known photographer. I do not take money from my sons even when they offer.”, says Karale as he stresses that he is not dependent on his sons.

Karale retired in 1984 after a long career. He had started working as a journalist in print media from 1947. He worked for Loksatta for 25 years, Lokmat for 15 years and Sakaal for 4 years.

In love with his work and with an independent streak, he still writes freelance for Lokmat as a drama critic every Sunday and gets Rs. 200/ week for his articles in addition to his pension of Rs. 1400/ month. With a meager income, medical services were a luxury for him and he struggled for even basic medicines for common ailments related to old age. Few years back he came to know of HelpAge’s nearby Mobile Medical Unit (MMU) operations from his peer group. Today, he receives regular medical support from the MMU. His association with HelpAge has made a difference in his life and in that of many of his elderly friends.

Advocacy in Action

The Active Ageing experiment that worked!

“These are the golden years for enjoying life: laughing with friends, walks with your spouse, good food, movies, games with the like-minded”, says Suresh Palta, President of the Senior Citizens’ Society of The Freedom Fighters Colony in New Delhi. The spritely 72 years “young” is clearly leading a life that is enviable but also so easy to emulate.

Two years ago, HelpAge India donated a full set of Physiotherapy Equipment to this Senior Citizens’ Society; with these, the members found a common cause uniting them. The Society rented modest premises and a charitable Physiotherapy clinic was started which was managed by the office bearers. Soon a Homeopathy clinic was also started and this group of retirees managed its activities and spent their morning hours from 9 am to 1 pm very productively and happily. The shared activity built strong bonds and soon the group started Recreation Hours. Every evening through the week, come rain or shine, members of this society would meet in the Centre. There would be spirited games of carrom, chess, Bridge; a TV corner was also provided. Every Thursday, the evening recreation is “Ladies Only” and as Mrs. Sunedha Sahani says, “We girls really let down our hair and play games which may amaze our grandchildren.” “It is a great stress buster, and the 2 hours spent away from house work really refreshes us,” adds Mrs Santosh Arora with a shy smile. Every month end, the entire group of members meet for an evening of merriment, birthday cakes for all members whose birthdays fall during that month and quizzes with interesting gifts for contestants.

This is one group of elders who have truly shown what Active Ageing is all about! What is even more heartwarming is that the Society has since added more Physiotherapy machines out of their own funds. And this group came together to donate a substantial amount towards the HelpAge Uttarakhand Relief efforts. Says Suresh Palta, “HelpAge India has helped us come together and changed the quality of our retirement years. Now it is our turn to support HelpAge.” We salute these Active Ageing practioneers.

A unique School for elders

A novel idea was started in March of 2007, by a man who felt that senior citizens needed a place to call their own. Late Pramod Navalkar of Mumbai, who held many high posts in his lifetime, did something few would dream of, he helped develop a park catering specifically for senior citizens. This was followed by a unique school for them called the Nana- Nani School set at Mumbai's Charni Road. It is run today under the mentorship of his wife Mrs. Vandana Navalkar.

"I come here because of Mr. Navalekar. This was his dream. I've been here since its beginning. He had an idea and started this school. I was whiling away time before this. I forget all my suffering when I come here." says 88 year old Shivaji V Kamat. His wife passed away 8 years ago and since then its has been tough; he finds solace here along with likeminded friends and has lots of things to do.

Elders unwind at the Nana-Nani School, Mumbai

It is a school like any other school with classes, just the students are more eager and different this time. Their mean age would be 65 on an average, but their excitement palpable! Everyday senior citizens here get together and have classes from 4:30 pm to 7 pm. It has a well stocked library and here the students become the teachers as well, with the senior citizens utilizing skills they've honed over the years, teaching Yoga, music, religious texts, dance, drama and many more to their classmates.

Says Vijay Mukadam, 71 years, "I come here because I like the group, the whole idea of older people coming together to learn new things like music, exercise, bhajans, religious texts etc. This is a good way to spend time constructively." She encourages other senior citizens of neighborhood to join them as she wants them to learn new things like she does.

Elderly demand Universal Pension

There are many elderly who are low wage workers, who work hard throughout their lives, yet in their silver years who, in the absence of any social security, do not receive pension due for the elderly. This injustice was sought to be highlighted when HelpAge India along with other partnering agencies staged a 5 day dharna (rally) at Jantar Mantar, New Delhi in May this year. HelpAge joined hands with Pension Parishad (a consortium of NGOs and trade unions) to demand Universal Pension for the elderly on the occasion. About 5000 elderly from nearly 20 states participated in the event. Eminent social activists like Baba Adav, Ms. Aruna Roy and Nikhil Dey and other leaders of Pension Parishad pushed forth the urgency of the issue with Shri Jairam Ramesh, Union Minister for Rural Development, Govt. of India.

Mr. Mathew Cherian, Chief Executive Officer, HelpAge India advocating for Universal Pension at New Delhi on 4th March 2013

Fighting social crime - Elder Abuse

Elderly rally against Abuse in Shamshabad (AP)

On the eve of World Elder Abuse Awareness Day (WEEAD), HelpAge India released a nationwide report on “Elder Abuse in India (2012)”. Launched at the national capital by Mr. Tejinder Khanna, then Lieutenant Governor of Delhi, it showcased the grave situation of the elderly in our society. Research studies conducted by HelpAge over the past few years reveal a disturbing trend that the maximum cases of Elder Abuse stem from within the family across all socio-economic sections. This year’s research spanned 20 cities where HelpAge India is operating its Elder Helplines: Delhi NCR, Mumbai, Kolkata, Bangalore, Hyderabad, Guwahati, Patna, Chandigarh, Panaji, Ahmedabad, Shimla, Jammu, Kochi, Bhopal, Bhubaneswar, Puducherry, Jaipur, Chennai, Dehradun, & Lucknow.

31% of older persons reported facing abuse. The primary abuser was the son followed by the daughter-in-law. More than 80% of those abused did not report the matter to uphold family honor.

Various events such as signature campaigns, press meets, cultural events, inter-generational activities etc. were held across India to mark the day. Children and young adults showed their support by joining HelpAge’s social media campaign on Facebook, joining marches and rallying at various locations, raising awareness about the issue.

“Standing at Mumbai’s Dadar railway platform supporting HelpAge’s initiative in the fight against Elder Abuse is my way of showing how strongly I feel about this. It’s a shame that our elders have to suffer at the hands of their own children.”

– says 24 year old, Shilpa Srivastava.

Meeting critical challenges of Urban Elderly

Urban living poses diverse and increasing challenges for the elderly. With a view to seeking answers to some of the multiple issues, HelpAge organised a Seminar where social scientists presented their viewpoints while entrepreneurs offered innovative services and products to enable elderly to lead safe and secure lives. This was seen as a precursor to an all-round response required of the State, the civil society, the not-for-profit and the industry. Elderly from various Senior Citizens' Associations participated actively in the event.

HelpAge is actively working with more than 900 Senior Citizens' Associations urging elders to form activity groups to pursue common hobbies and learn new skills. The attempt is to ensure elders remain physically agile and mentally engaged so they can lead healthy and active lives.

Starting with the young – a Kolkata state office Advocacy initiative

The SAVE (Student Action for Value Education) Programme expanded its reach to more than 11 lakh students across India. The SAVE team in Kolkata worked with over 60,000 students and was also very active on the policy advocacy front.

Due to constant advocacy with the “Expert Committee on School Syllabus” a chapter on “Respect to Elders” has been included in the Environmental Studies text book for class V students of Government schools. The book has been published by the School Education Department, Government of West Bengal and the Council for Primary Education. Similar attempts are being made in the other states as well.

The chapter in the form of a story aims to inculcate the values of love and respect for elders in the family and society. Two specific days earmarked in the HelpAge India calendar, 15th June for ending Elder Abuse and 1st October, the International Day of Older Persons have been specifically mentioned and the chapter encourages children to observe these two days by spending time with their grandparents.

Stage for Age - the forum to entertain and educate

The Paul Peabody Concert was organised by HelpAge India along with partner agency Help Me See on 5th August 2013

There are 12 million blind in India and 62.6 % are blind due to cataract, a large number of them elderly. HelpAge supports Cataract surgeries for disadvantaged elders. This year too around 30,000 surgeries were sponsored.

Internationally acclaimed Violinist Paul Peabody came all the way from New York to perform Live in Concert for charities HelpAge India & Help Me See's joint initiative of Helping the Blind See. Through this concert HelpAge India & Help Me See hoped to raise awareness and funds to help the blind see. Kick starting the evening was a silent mime act by group 'Jagran' spreading awareness on blindness and its simple yet affordable cure which can change the life of a person.

Paul as a violinist has a rich body of work behind him spanning three decades. He has played for Michael Jackson, Madonna as well as for over 90 films including the soundtrack album for Disney flicks doing Jugalbandi with him were our very own Indian artists with Raghuraman on the Flute, Sunil Kant Saxena on Sitar, Nawab Ali at the Tabla and Kannan with Ghatam. Paul also rocked with the young students of Ryan International School, Rohini, Delhi.

"I'm very happy to be here today and perform to support this initiative of helping the blind see. The cause is very close to my heart. I want to pass on the message to all the people, that a small contribution from them can make a huge difference in the life of someone who can't see just because he or she can't afford its cure. Restoring sight is like giving someone a whole new world of colour, life and most of all hope," says artist Paul Peabody.

Badshah Rangeela

"My association with HelpAge has been a long one, since 2004, for me theatre is a medium not just to promote talent but also to raise awareness about relevant issues. Through this play I hope to re-kindle the time our elders grew up hearing stories about history and mythology", says Sarita Vohra, renowned theatre veteran.

In March 2013, Living Room Theatre and HelpAge India, under its aegis Stage for Age, staged multiple shows of "Badshah Rangeela". A 120 minute historical, extravaganza, it celebrated 100 years of Dilli complete with dance, music and poetry.

Written and directed by theatre veteran Sarita Vohra, Badshah Rangeela was a reflection of life for many of Delhi's senior citizens who grew up hearing stories of a Dilli dating back to the time of Emperor Mohammed Shah Rangeela. Based on the life and times of the Mughal Emperor, a time when Nadir Shah invaded India and plundered Delhi, the play enthralled the audience transporting them to another time and space.

Spreading the message of Active Ageing the age of the cast varied from 70 years to a 10 year old child. Veteran Actor, Swadesh Mahan is 70 plus and is a living example that "Age is no barrier to living ones dream".

Rajeev Mehrotra,

RITES Limited

“RITES has adopted a policy for CSR which indicates our commitment to operate in an economically, socially and environmentally responsible manner in all areas of our work. It strives to integrate social and environmental concerns in various projects providing best possible solutions for sustainable development of society.

We have been associated with HelpAge India to establish and operate an Aged Day Care and Residential Facility at Village Rongla, Patiala, Punjab for the last three years. The centre provides multi-pronged age care support. The project currently serves 12 villages with an elderly population of about 2000, and has significantly improved the quality of life of the neglected elderly population within the area since its inception. I am hopeful that the centre would continue to serve humanity, specially the elderly and disabled from the marginalized sections of society.”

BHEL is happy to be associated with HelpAge India for providing basic healthcare to those members of society who are unable to access or afford it. The Company looks forward to a long association with such specialized agencies to promote inclusive growth across entire span of the country and thereby contributing towards sustainable development.”
